HOLIDAY GAME—Y. F. Hammatt, director of Normandale Playground, 22400 Halldale Ave., gives a few pointers on a new version of golf to Danny Fleming of 1616 West 206th St., and his sister, Nancy. The game's object is to toss flying saucer discs into 18 tires. It will be played during an all-day family event at the playground Saturday, highlighted by a fireworks display in the evening. —Press Photo

Polynesian Holds First Luau
With the curtain formally raised on The Polynesian Restaurant, following its recent grand opening, the tropical establishment held its first public luau since the auspicious occasion. "Feast Of The Islands," as the real Hawaiian luau has been named, was held Sunday. The native feast authentically duplicated the colorful event of the Islands, both in pageantry and festivity. Highlight of the Polynesian Restaurant's luau was five hours of native entertainment, featuring outstanding Hawaiian performers. In charge of choreography was Telu Mansfield, while musical director Harry Baty also appeared with his noted recording artists.
